ZEST ASSET MANAGEMENT SICAV

ZEST Dynamic Opportunities Fund

A Sub-Fund of ZEST Asset Management SICAV Class R1 Retail LU0438908914

Management Company: Degroof Petercam Asset Services

Objectives and Investment Policy

Objective Over the long term: exceed the EONIA Index by 3% a year. Over the medium term: preserve investors' capital. On an ongoing basis: seek positive return regardless of market conditions (absolute return).

Portfolio Securities The Investment Manager anticipates that under normal market conditions the Sub-Fund will invest in a broad mix of equities, debt securities (including convertible, government and corporate debt securities and asset-backed securities) and money market instruments. These securities may be from anywhere in the world, including emerging and frontier markets, but excluding China, India and Russia. The Sub-Fund may invest in these securities directly or may invest indirectly through derivatives or by investing in other mutual funds. The Sub-Fund may also use derivatives for investment purposes or in seeking to reduce or cancel out its exposure to various investment risks (hedging).

Investment Process Using a dynamic risk diversification approach, the Investment Manager determines the allocation of investments between the different asset classes and, within each category, the desired mix of countries, issuers and types of securities.

Designed For Investors who want to diversify their portfolios and who have an investment horizon of at least 1 year.

Emerging and frontier markets Countries whose economies or securities markets are less well developed.

Money market instruments Financial instruments designed to provide stable value, interest and a very low risk of loss, as well as being readily convertible into cash.

You can place orders to buy or sell Sub-Fund shares on any given Luxembourg business day.

The Sub-Fund issues only accumulation shares (shares in which any income earned is added to the share price).

Risk and Reward Profile

The value of an investment in the Sub-Fund can go up and down. When you sell your shares, they may be worth less than what you paid for them. If your currency as an investor is different from the subscription currency of the Sub-Fund, changes in currency exchange rates could reduce any investment gains or increase any investment losses.

The risk/reward rating above is an estimate; it is not guaranteed. The rating is based on medium-term volatility (actual or estimated variations in the Sub-Fund's share price over five years). Going forward, the Sub-Fund's actual volatility could be lower or higher, and its rated risk/reward level may be changed.

The Sub-Fund's risk level reflects the following factors:

- The addition of debt securities and money market instruments generally tempers the risks associated with equities.
- The Sub-Fund maintains a widely diversified portfolio.

The rating does not reflect the possible effects of unusual market conditions or large unpredictable events, which could amplify everyday risks and could trigger other risks, such as:

Counterparty risk The Sub-Fund could lose money if an entity with which it does business becomes unwilling or unable to honor its commitments to the Sub-Fund.

Credit risk Prices of a debt security may fall if the issuer's creditworthiness deteriorates, or if investors believe it may do so. This risk tends to be greater with lower quality debt securities. In extreme cases, an issuer's securities could become worthless if it fails to make timely debt service payments.

Derivatives risk Certain derivatives could increase Sub-Fund volatility or expose the Sub-Fund to losses greater than the cost of the derivative.

Liquidity risk Certain securities could become hard to value, or to sell at a desired time and price.

Management risk Portfolio management techniques that have worked well in normal market conditions could prove ineffective or detrimental during unusual conditions.

Operational risk In any market, but especially in emerging markets, the fund could lose some or all of its money through a failure in asset safekeeping or through fraud, corruption, political actions or any other unexpected events.
